Planning your departure

GETTING TO FRANCE

• Arriving by train

Main train lines arrive in Paris at Gare d'Austerlitz, Gare de Bercy, Gare de l'Est, Gare de Lyon, Gare Montparnasse, Gare du Nord and Gare Saint-Lazare.

To buy tickets, go to the SNCF, website the national French national railway company.

• Arriving by plane

There are two international airports in Paris:

Paris-Charles-de-Gaulle Airport (CDG)

This airport is located in the north-east of the city. It has three terminals (T1, T2, T3). To get from one terminal to another, you can take the free CDGVAL automatic metro.

To get to Paris, you can:

- take RER B. One of the cheapest ways to travel between the airport and Paris and its suburbs. Travelling from Paris Gare du Nord to Roissy - GDG is approximately 35-40 minutes.

A single ticket is about €11.40. The Navigo pass can be used on this route.

- take the bus: Roissybus operates between Paris (Opéra) and Charles-de-Gaulle airport. All terminals are served. The ticket is €11.50 and the Navigo pass is accepted. For further information and to buy tickets, go to the Paris aéroports website.

Orly International Airport

This airport is located south of Paris and has four terminals, Orly 1, 2, 3 and 4. To get to Paris, you can:

- Take the Orlyval shuttle as far as Antony train station, then RER B
- Take the bus: Orlybus is an express bus route which links Orly to Denfert-Rochereau (in Paris). There are buses approximately every 10 to 20 minutes for a journey time of approximately 35 minutes.

A ticket costs €11.20 in 2023 and the Navigo pass is accepted. For further information and to buy tickets, go to the Paris aéroports website.

The start-up Zoov has introduced 500 electric bikes and around forty stations south of Paris. Download the app to find an available bike and the cost of your journey.

TRAVELLING IN FRANCE

• By train

The French railway network is extensive. TGV (Train Grande Vitesse) trains allow you to cover long distances in a short time. Intercity trains are national lines which are not high speed, so the cost of a journey is cheaper. Finally, TER (Transport Express Régional) trains are regional trains and buses.

Many discount cards exist, as well as low-cost TGV tickets called 'Ouigo'

TRANSPORT IN THE PARIS-SACLAY URBAN AREA

Several buses serve communities in the Paris-Saclay urban area, depending on whether you are on the Saclay 'plateau' or in the 'valley'.

• The Saclay 'plateau': several buses link the Saclay plateau to the surrounding communities and the Orsay 'valley' campus: bus 9, bus 7, bus 14, bus 11 and bus 91.06

• The Orsay 'valley' campus: buses 6 and 7 will take you to the 'Plateau d'Orsay'

DRIVING LICENCE

• Driving licences issued by a member state of the European Economic Area (EEE - Etat de l'Espace Economique Européen)

You can drive in France with your European licence as long as it is valid.

• Driving licences issued by a country outside the European Economic Area (EEE - Etat de l'Espace Economique Européen)

You can drive with your licence for a short stay (less than 185 days) or for 1 year from the time you acquired your place of residence.

To continue driving in France after this period:

- if your country has an agreement with France, you must exchange your licence for a French driving licence. This exchange is free and can be done online at <https://permisdeconduire.ants.gouv.fr/>
- If your licence is not exchangeable, you must take the French driving test

Further information is available on the French authorities official website
