

International master's scholarship program Academic year 2016-2017

The Université Paris-Saclay would like to promote access to its master's (nationally-certified degree) programs to international students, taught in its member establishments, and to make it easier for highly-qualified foreign students to attend its University especially those wishing to develop an academic project through research up to the doctoral level.

170 scholarships will be awarded for the 2016-2017 academic year for one year to M1 or M2-level students.

Selection process of the candidates:

---

Candidates for the international master's scholarship program of Université Paris-Saclay will be selected by the admission panel of Université Paris-Saclay master's program.

Only the students contacted by email can submit an application.
No unsolicited application is allowed.

1/ Selected students will automatically receive by email a link to an online application form that they must fill in.

Upon receipt of this email, the student will have 8 days to complete and validate the online application form and to provide the names of two referents.

2 Each of the two referents provided by the candidate will receive an email with a link to an online recommendation form. They will have 8 days to complete and validate this form.

The candidate will automatically be informed when each form has been validated.

3/The application will be considered complete when the two recommendation forms have been validated by the two referents.

Important: the candidate will not receive a message stipulating that his file is complete.

It is the candidate's responsibility to make sure each referent has validated their recommendation form on time.

Incomplete applications or validated after the deadline will be automatically rejected.

Selection and results:

Important: being admitted into a master's program does not automatically entitle the student to a scholarship. The final decision is the responsibility of a panel of experts from Université Paris-Saclay.

When the student receives the confirmation email, he/she will have 8 days to accept or refuse the scholarship. If the student fails to respond within this timeframe, he/she will be considered as having refused the scholarship.

The Université Paris-Saclay reserves the right to refuse or to cancel the scholarship if it realizes that the information provided by the candidate was false.
